

Here goes the government again trying to dismanttle everything. Let it go already. Especially for people in areas where there is limited radio, XM and other satellite radio gives the options of many options. If everyone would just stop worrying so much and complaining about EVERYTHING, maybe this damn country would actually be able to hold up to its reputation - ooops, I forgot it turned bad. Get a life! I'm sick and tired of this. I'm paying for it so why should everyone else be taking the time to take it away from me? If it's a problem of other people losing money from it, then work something out. There is no need to take it away.
